Is a CLT home right for you?

- We separate the ownership of the land from the ownership of the house. We then lease the land to the homeowner for a 99-year term.
- Homes must be owner occupied and cannot be rented.
- Price upon selling is based on the resale formula, not the market rate.
- Home must be sold to another owner based on income and other requirements of HRB.
- Homes are inheritable.

Who can buy an affordable Wintergreen Townhome?

Income

Homebuyers must have a steady income that is at or below 80% area median income. Total housing costs can be no more than 35% of gross monthly income. The AMI limit is currently $61,000 for a household of 1 and $69,700 for a household of 2.

Debt

Total debt (including housing costs) should be no more than 40% of gross monthly income.

Assets

Total assets after closing are limited to $300,000.

Homeownership

Property must be primary residence. Homeowners cannot own other real estate.

Credit Rating

Score of 640 or higher, no significant delinquencies the past year, and no bankruptcies or foreclosures in the last four years. (If your score is less than 640 due to lack of history, alternate review may be available.)

Bridging the affordability gap

The first phase
Wintergreen townhomes
have a base price of $369,000

USDA loans: Low-interest rates; subsidies for income-eligible buyers; allows buyers to borrow more than they might with conventional loans.

HRB subsidies: $15,000+ grants from HUD's Self-Help Homeownership Opportunity Program (SHOP) in exchange for 60 hours of sweat equity per owner.

Housing Trust Fund grant: HRB anticipates lowering homes, on average, by an additional $80,000 for first-time homebuyers.

Down payment assistance: Provided by our partner, Community Frameworks, in the form of an interest-deferred loan.

How much will a HRB Wintergreen home cost?

Base price (Phase I): $369,000

Subsidies:	Resources:
Washington Housing Trust Fund ($2.5 million) $80,000 (average per home)	Community Frameworks down payment assistance
Federal HUD SHOP Funding $15,000 to $25,000	Low-interest USDA loans for eligible buyers

Final anticipated price to buyer: $274,000 - $354,000

HRB provides real estate services to buyer free of charge

Ground Lease overview

- Legal document the buyer and CLT sign.
- Recorded along with the deeds and defines the ongoing relationship between the owner and the CLT.
- Renewable 99-year term.
- Defines the ground lease fee and resale formula.
- Outlines process to follow if/when owner decides to sell.
- States that owner agrees to pay property taxes and insurance and maintain the home.
- Each buyer will read the ground lease in its entirety and have an opportunity to ask questions before signing.
- It's important all owners fully understand the ground lease.

CLT homes are affordable forever

- If the home is sold, it must go to another low-income household.
- You agree to a limited profit on the sale to ensure that it is affordable to the next buyer.

Resale formula overview

HRB homes appreciate at a set rate which is typically slower than the rate of appreciation in the open market. But homeowners still build equity.

HRB ground lease formula determines the sale price to subsequent buyers so that homes remain perpetually affordable:

Purchase price plus 1.5% compounded annually.

Example: Your home is sold after 10 years.

- Initial purchase of home - $274,000
- Potential resale price - $318,000

Wintergreen Townhomes Homeowners Association

Collects monthly dues.

Manages the HOA budget.

Enforces the CC&Rs and Bylaws.

Maintains the common areas and exterior of the buildings.

Consists of a board of directors made up of homeowners and the developer to start.

CC&Rs, bylaws and budget are available for review.

Stewardship

- CLTs build community as well as housing. Our relationship doesn't end at closing. We are here for you throughout ownership.
- As a CLT homeowner you will maintain the home inside and out for yourself and for the future.
- Participation in the Wintergreen Townhomes Homeowners Association is encouraged.
- Homeowners also have the opportunity to serve on the HRB board.
